

Social Media Community Guidelines

We look forward to engaging on social media platforms and online communities on the Internet about our commitment to providing specialty vaccines that help protect against overlooked infectious diseases. Please note that because we operate within a regulated industry, there are certain rules we must follow when administering content. We may need to remove certain comments or posts, and we may have longer response times to your comments or posts, as we need to make sure our content does not violate regulatory or industry guidelines.

Please note that we may share publicly accessible articles from other websites, social media platforms, people, publishers or organizations through our official social media platforms. Any such posts are not endorsements, nor are we responsible for the content found on those other websites or social media platforms. Any accounts that we follow or that we are being followed by are not an indication of our endorsement of these accounts or the content they produce.

We will remove any post that is not consistent with the community guidelines or legal terms and conditions of the social media platform. We may also remove certain posts or comments from this page for various other reasons, such as:

- Posts from users that are product-related or that contain medical advice
 - If you have a medical inquiry for one of our products, please visit: <http://paxvax.com/contact-us/medical-inquiries-report/>
 - If you need to report an adverse event for one of our products, please visit: <https://paxvax.com/contact-us/report-adverse-event/>
 - If you have a product complaint related to a PaxVax product, please visit: <https://paxvax.com/contact-us/report-product-complaint/>
 - Please know that in the event you do reach out to us online with an adverse event, we may need to contact you to get more information.
- Posts that contain disparaging, threatening, violent or illegal behavior
- Posts that include profanity, libelous, abusive, discriminatory, defamatory, offensive or demeaning subject matter
- Posts that are off-topic
- Posts that contain any personal information, e.g., contact information or full names of individuals
- Posts that violate copyright or intellectual property laws
- Posts that promote the sale of other products/services or recruit followers for other pages
- Posts that are viewed as spam and are repetitive and disruptive to the community
- Posts that contain confidential, sensitive or non-public information
- Posts that are not in English

There may be other scenarios that may require us to delete posts or direct conversation offline, which may not be accounted for in the above list. We are not obligated to provide any content or responses, and we reserve the right to block users or remove any content, in our sole discretion, with or without notice.
